

IMMUNE DEFENSE

Support natural immune function, without over activating your immune system.

Immune Defense provides the body with additional immunoglobulins, the immune cells the digestive tract produces naturally. Immunoglobulins are antibodies, or specialized proteins, that either stop the invader or identify it so other members of the immune system can destroy it. These cells help protect us against potential infections. When you feel that first tingle of a cold, or after an overindulgent evening, Immune Defense can help. This immune support formula supplies specific antibodies that target 26 human pathogens.*

POWERFUL BENEFITS:

- Supports intestinal immune function
- Helps protect against harmful pathogens
- Supports natural immune function, without over activating the immune system
